Miss Chung brings to the Bach the qualities of impeccable technique of bow and finger, and of a rich tone available in a wide range of dynamic. These are formidable qualities indeed, and the formidable music responds well to them. In Miss Chung's elevated context ... there are choices to be made in every bar about which notes to sustain and which to let go, as well as which parts to keep in tempo and which to make subsidiary. Many facets of her playing here will without doubt win the whole-hearted admiration of those colleagues as well as of the rest of us; and the disc is very well recorded indeed. - Gramophone
